

« We found this valley in Hunchy about 12 years ago and fell in love with its amazing views and ambience. The outlook constantly changes with the seasons. To see the sun come up and watch the colour changing is such a magnificent way to start the day. We watch thunderstorms come in from the coast to little fireworks going off at Coolum. But my most favourite is the moonlight shining on the water. We feel like we live in heaven.

« I absolutely adore my french chasseur. My husband and I love cooking and entertaining. This casserole pot is wonderful for slow cooking casseroles and enhances all the flavours of the ingredients. I use it as much as possible because I love something simmering on the stove and it does work well with aspects of the interior (OK, yes, I am a decorator).

It wouldn't be home without

Interior decorator Debra Kistler from DDK Consulting shares a few favourite things from her Hunchy home

« My beautiful day bed was a present from my husband, Roland, and has so much meaning to me. He handcarved it out of recycled timber from an old shed originally on our property. He carved little frangipanis into the arms and back of the bed, and I know every flower was created with love. It looks over two ponds at the front of our home and we can regularly be found relaxing with a champagne or two.

« My family is the centrepiece of my life and my great love. I have constantly changing framed black-and-white family photos occupying the walls of the entry hallway in my home. They give me such joy every day and friends and family are able to admire the changing gallery.

» This ruby jug is so precious to me. It belonged to my great-grandmother, my grandma and now me. I use it every day and it reminds me of the gorgeous women in my life.
